

CV

Stella Smith is a Reference Assistant in the Music Division of the Library of Congress in Washington, DC. She holds an MA in Museum Studies from George Washington University and a Postgraduate Certificate in Nazi-era Art Provenance Research from the University of Denver's Center for Art Collection Ethics. An active member of the American Musical Instrument Society, her current research explores the relationships between archival practice and contemporary organology.